Wake up! News

Getting ready to roll!

All building rubble was removed from the erf.

The firm Obeco donated 30m² of tiles for the kitchen.

Tiger Wheels helped us by dropping 200 old tyres to build a retaining wall on the playground.

A small jungle gym, a sand-pit and a toddlers play-ground have been erected.

Coral Paints donated two buckets of floor paint for the hall

Our first volunteer from The Netherlands: Stijn Pul.

16 Holes were dug to plant trees.

A group of friends in The Netherlands threw a party and raised €2000 for Wake up! With this money we obtained an old caravan as temporary housing for our caretaker. A big thank you to Rick Rick, Leen, Jan, Hans, Hugo and friends!

Teachers Talitha and Laimi covered about a hundred books.

From the Editor

Welcome to the third edition of our newsletter. We hope the New Year has started for you as promising as ours. Our building site is being transformed into a school, and with that we are about to start the real journey of our project, which is nurturing young children's love of learning.

Unfortunately we had to delay the opening of the centre for two weeks. As the builder took a holiday as well, floors and doors and a list of other things were not in order by mid-January, and with that we could not yet accommodate the children.

Work over the past two weeks however has been frantic. In this Newsletter we would like to give you a visual impression of what happened over the past weeks, as a prelude to the arrival of the children on the 1st of February.

Also we like to acknowledge various donations, without which we would not be where we are now. The support of various Namibian companies has been truly encouraging!

Next Newsletter we will feature our children and the centre in action!
